

CALL FOR PAPERS

24th Annual IFIP WG 11.3 Working Conference on Data and Applications Security

DBSec 2010 – Rome, Italy – June 21-23, 2010

DBSec is an annual international conference covering research in data and applications security and privacy. The 24th Annual IFIP WG 11.3 Working Conference on Data and Applications Security (DBSec 2010) will be held in Rome, Italy. The conference seeks submissions from academia, industry, and government presenting novel research on all theoretical and practical aspects of data protection, privacy, and applications security. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

access control	knowledge discovery and privacy	security and privacy in location-based services anonymity	methodologies for data and application security	security and privacy in P2P scenarios and social networks applied cryptography	network security	security and privacy in pervasive/ubiquitous computing authentication	organizational security	security and privacy policies data and system integrity	privacy	security management data protection	secure cloud computing	security metrics database security	secure distributed systems	threats, vulnerabilities, and risk management digital rights management	secure information integration	trust and reputation systems identity management	secure Web services	trust management intrusion detection	security and privacy in IT outsourcing	wireless and mobile security

Paper submissions. Submitted papers should be at most 16 pages including the bibliography and well-marked appendices (using 11-point font and reasonable margins on letter-size paper), and should be in single-column format. Committee members are not required to read the appendices, and so the paper should be intelligible without them. Submissions are to be made to the submission web site at <http://www.easychair.org/conferences/?conf=dbsec2010>. Only pdf files will be accepted. Submissions not meeting these guidelines risk rejection without consideration of their merits. Papers must be received by the deadline of February 15, 2010 (11:59 PM Samoa time). Authors of accepted papers must guarantee that their papers will be presented at the conference. Accepted papers will be published by Springer in the Lecture Notes in Computer Science series. The camera-ready version of the accepted papers must follow Springer guidelines (a Latex source file will be required).

A paper submitted to DBSec 2010 cannot be under review for any other conference or journal during the time it is being considered for DBSec 2010. Furthermore, after you submit to DBSec 2010, you must await our response before submitting elsewhere. If you submit your paper to another conference or journal either before/after submission of the paper to DBSec 2010, we will reject your paper without review and will notify the other conference/journal as well. This restriction applies to identical as well as to substantially similar papers.

Panel proposals. Proposals for panels should be sent to dbsec2010@unimi.it. Proposals should include a one-page description of the subject matter, the name and address (including e-mail address) of the organizer, and a list of proposed panelists.
